A RENEWED COMMITMENT FOR A MORE SUSTAINABLE EVENT

A promising 20th edition

Exhibitor registrations for FUNÉRAIRE PARIS 2025, the leading event for the profession, have started strong, with more than 150 companies already committed, including 134 rebookings, 23 new exhibitors, and 18 international participants. This momentum reflects the renewed trust of all industry players and confirms the trade exhibition as the must-attend event for the market. Discover the full list of registered exhibitors below.

A stronger commitment to a more sustainable event

In a spirit of transparency and commitment, FUNÉRAIRE PARIS is highlighting its sustainable development initiatives this year and encouraging all the participants to get actively involved.

In concrete terms, several actions are being implemented to reduce the event's environmental impact:

- More sustainable catering options: Starting in 2025, priority will be given to local products and environmentally-friendly catering.
- Reduction of single-use plastics: Following the removal of plastic badge holders in 2023, water fountains will be installed in 2025 to reduce plastic bottle consumption.
- Reduction of printed materials: Since 2021, the official printed catalogue has been eliminated and in 2025, flyers and promotional stickers will also no longer be issued.
- Choosing responsible partners: All suppliers and service providers involved in the event share the same sustainability values.
- Promoting eco-friendly transport: The trade exhibition wants to encourage participants to opt for carpooling and public transport to reach the venue.

At the same time, exhibitors will be invited to showcase their CSR initiatives on the event's website, contributing to a collective movement towards best environmental practices.

Through these commitments, FUNÉRAIRE PARIS reaffirms its ambition to drive change within the industry and organise an exemplary event that aligns with today's environmental challenges.

Get ready for an event focused on innovation and sustainable commitment!
